

Update statement: February 21, 2014, 10:00 a.m.

Crozet Water – Safe to Drink/Safe to Use

The ACSA has taken several measures during the week of February 16 to assure our customers that your supply of water continues to be safe, despite the scattered reports of discoloration from 2/13-2/16:

- A review of the treatment plant records has confirmed everything to be normal.
- Additional testing at the treatment plant and throughout the distribution system has confirmed the absence of any chemicals that may potentially cause discoloration.
- Continued coliform bacteria and residual chlorine testing assures us that there are no harmful micro-organisms in the water.
- Flushing of the distribution lines has occurred at multiple locations in the system.

Each of these efforts is to assure our customers that we provide you with water of the highest quality.

If a customer has further questions or concerns about the water, please call Tim Brown at 977-4511, extension 119 during normal business hours, or our 24-hour emergency number of 1-888-252-3468.